AIV x architektura

Who are the others in the HIL, anyway? The ones who dress differently, walk differently, attend different lectures, and yet somehow still end up discussing the same concrete column? On October 15, we're daring to cross over to the other side: the historic meeting between architects and civil engineers. Let's talk about the structures of tomorrow today, while we can still understand each other, and switch perspectives for an evening over an apéro. Maybe the others aren't actually as aloof and stubborn as their reputation has claimed for decades. Myth or reality? Time to put those old stereotypes in the HIL to rest!

Location: HIL, exact location to be announced

Date: Thursday, October 15th, 2026, starts at 18:00

Cost: free
